2、 daily life

(1) Catering (Chinese-English)

1.Local flavors

Fanlou (Luohu Branch): It is about 12 kilometers away from Keda Building, a 30 - minute drive. The shrimp dumplings here are highly recommended, served with a special vinegar dipping sauce, which taste extremely delicious. The morning tea culture here is also worth experiencing.

Chen Pengpeng Chaoshan Cuisine (Galaxy WORLD·COCO Park Branch): Located at Galaxy WORLD·COCO Park, No.1 Yabao Road, Longgang District, about 2 kilometers away from Keda Building, within walking distance. Don't miss their signature marinated goose platter. The meat is firm and the marinated flavor is rich.

2.International cuisine

BLT Steak (MixC Shenzhen Bay Branch): It is about 20 kilometers away from Keda Building, a 40 - minute drive. It offers authentic dry - aged steaks, a paradise for steak lovers.

3.Specialty snacks

Bantian Handicraft Cultural Street Food Stalls: Located in Bantian Street, Longgang District, about 1 kilometer away from Keda Building, a 15 - minute walk. There are various traditional snacks here, such as glutinous rice balls and rice noodle rolls, full of hustle and bustle.

Futian Shuiwei Village Night Market: It is about 15 kilometers away from Keda Building, a 35 - minute drive. It features special snacks like baked oyster omelette and kuotiao soup, allowing clients to experience the authentic Shenzhen night food culture.

(2) Shopping guide

1.Technology products

Seg Electronics Market in Huaqiangbei: You can buy various electronic products such as mobile phone accessories and smart bracelets here. The prices are affordable and there is a wide selection.

2.Culture & Trends

Eslite Spectrum in Mixc World: It has a rich collection of design books, suitable for clients interested in design and art.

(3) Precautions (Chinese-English)

1.Payment Methods

Major shopping malls and most restaurants support UnionPay. It is recommended to help clients activate mobile payment in advance (WeChat Pay/Alipay requires binding an international credit card).

Some small alley shops may only accept cash. It is advisable for clients to prepare a small amount of RMB (about 500 yuan).

2.Cultural differences

Table manners: In China, avoid tapping bowls and dishes with chopsticks, and try not to make noise when drinking soup.

Public places: Keep quiet on public transportation and pay attention not to jump the queue when queuing.

3. Emergency contact

British Consulate-General in Shenzhen: It is located on the 20th floor of Tower 3, Kerry Plaza, No.1 Zhongxin 4th Road, Futian District, Shenzhen (Tel: 0755 - 86227000). In case of an emergency, clients can contact the consulate for assistance.

Medical emergency: Dial 120. Some hospitals (such as United Family Hospital Shenzhen) provide English - speaking services.

4. Transportation arrangements

(1) Transportation in the city

1. Taxi: The starting price of a taxi in Shenzhen is 12 yuan (for the first 2 kilometers), and there is a 30% surcharge during the night (from 23:00 - 6:00). It is recommended to use the DiDi taxi - hailing app (which can set an English interface), which is convenient and fast.

2. Business travel: If clients pay attention to the quality of travel, Caocao Special Car is recommended. You can reserve an English - speaking driver, and most of the vehicles are class B cars.

3. Sightseeing buses: The Shenzhen Bay Park sightseeing bus (blue double - decker bus) passes through Talent Park and is an excellent choice for sightseeing. The ticket price is 50 yuan per day.

4. Subway Travel:

Metro travel: Shenzhen's metro network is extensive, covering major attractions and commercial areas across the city, offering an economical and convenient travel option. Currently, operating lines include Line 1 to Line 16, etc., with general operating hours from 06:30 - 23:30 (slightly different for each line). Tickets can be purchased using cash, WeChat, or Alipay at self - service ticket machines in metro stations; alternatively, download the "Shenzhen Metro" APP in advance, register, and scan the code to enter the station.

Precautions:

During peak hours (7:30 - 9:30 and 17:30 - 19:30 on weekdays), some lines can be crowded. It is advisable to travel outside of peak hours;

Carrying flammable, explosive, and other hazardous items into the station is prohibited;

When using escalators, stand firm and hold the handrail, and take good care of accompanying children;

Some transfer stations are quite large, so allow sufficient transfer time to avoid delays.

(2) From the airport to the city

Guangzhou Baiyun International Airport is far from Longgang District, Shenzhen. You can choose the following ways to get there:

Intercity transport + Subway: First, take an intercity train from Baiyun Airport to Shenzhen North Station (such as the Guangzhou-Shenzhen Intercity Railway), then transfer to Shenzhen Metro Line 5, Line 10, etc. to Longgang District and get off at the corresponding station according to your destination. This option is cost-effective but involves multiple transfers and takes a longer time.

Charter/Pooled Car: Hire a private car or use ride-pooling platforms to go directly to Longgang District. The journey takes about 1.5 - 2.5 hours (depending on traffic conditions). The cost of chartering a car is about 500 - 800 yuan, and the pooled car cost is about 100 - 200 yuan per person.

5. Accommodation recommendations

Quanji Hotel at Keda Building, Bantian Subdistrict, Longgang District

Address: Keda Building, Bantian Subdistrict, Longgang District
